Remote Senior Sales Manager

Job Location

Southeastern US

Description

A premier luxury meetings and incentives destination is seeking a Remote Senior Sales Manager to drive high-value group business and support the launch of a new flagship meetings venue.

This role focuses on proactive new business development for group rooms and events across multiple segments, targeting corporate retreats, executive off-sites, conventions, and incentive/reward travel, with a primary focus on corporate and association markets. The ideal candidate brings a strong background in group sales for upscale or luxury properties and is comfortable managing a remote, multi-state territory.

This is an outstanding opportunity for a high-performing group sales professional to represent a distinctive meetings and incentives destination while working remotely from the Southeast. Position is eligible for a quarterly bonus.
